

Dear Victoria and Lya

The idea of a database of academic institutions offering training in Behavioural Medicine is a good one.

At The University of Birmingham, we offer a taught Masters programme in Public Health (MPH), which incorporates a number of modules of relevance to behavioural medicine. The details of the course are available at: <http://medweb4.bham.ac.uk/cpd/pgt.aspx?id=32>

The Health promotion module most specifically deals with behavioural medicine, but other modules also have relevant content.

We have no taught PhD programmes as yet, but we do have several academic staff working in the area of behavioural medicine, and PhD students working with us access the relevant taught components of our masters courses as part of their studies.

I hope this is helpful, and please feel free to come back if you need further information.

Best wishes

Peymane